Cowdray Ruins, the former Cowdray House, is a Tudor mansion with a wealth of history and intrigue. Visited by King Henry VIII and Queen Elizabeth I, it was partially destroyed by fire in 1793. Within the remaining tower is a stunning Renaissance Art Studio located at the top of a spiral staircase.

Located next to Cowdray Ruins, this intimate and private location offers two beautiful reception rooms with wonderful outdoor garden space. It is suitable for a range of events including weddings, parties and other celebrations.

Polo is played throughout the summer months. Cowdray is the home of British polo and the club hosts over 500 matches during the season. The highlight is the prestigious British Open Polo Championship for the Cowdray Gold Cup, which is a key event on the social calendar.
